LAKESIDE VILLAGE BUSINESS SPOTLIGHT

ELEVATING Etiquette

Desirée Broussard is the owner and founder of Elevating Etiquette, LLC where she works to improve the lives of others by teaching professional, personal and dining etiquette to high school students, college students, junior to senior professionals, new managers, spouse groups...anyone who seeks to improve and refine their etiquette skills.

Desirée has lived and worked internationally. She has 30 years in the hospitality industry with over 20 of those years of professional experience in the United States Air Force where she stills serves today in the Nevada Air National Guard as a Lieutenant Colonel. Throughout her Air Force career, she served in numerous positions as Chief of Protocol where she dealt with high ranking dignitaries from across the globe, placing her in situations which required a deep understanding and practice of diplomacy, professional, social and dining etiquette.

She graduated from the University of Louisiana at Lafayette and finished her Master's Degree in Management and Leadership from Webster University. She is certified as an etiquette consultant through The Etiquette Institute and From The Inside-Out School of Etiquette, LLC. She is also a certified Intercultural Etiquette and Protocol Trainer from The Protocol School of Washington, a member of the Protocol and Diplomacy International organization and is published in the World Protocol Magazine.
